WANTS SOLDIERS TO GUARD PELLMAN

JUDGE WALKER ASKS FOR TROOPS OVER STRONG PRO-
TEST OF LOCAL OFFI-CERS.

Over the vigorous protest of Sheriff W. L. McCarty and all of the Lincoln county officials, Circuit Judge Lewis L. Walker has called upon the Governor to furnish a detail of State soldiers to protect the negro Shay Pellman, who will be tried at a special term of court here Wednesday for assaulting Nancy the 10-year-old daughter of Le Roy Rankin, a prominent farmer of this county. Sheriff McCarty plead with Judge Walker not to disgrace Lincoln county by sending armed men here to guard the prisoner, insisting that he and his deputies are amply able to protect the negro. He told the judge that he would swear in all the deputies necessary to guarantee him absolute protection in the event there was any indication of mob violence, but Judge Walker said he had certain information of plans to take the negro from the officers and lynch him, and he was not willing to take a chance. The judge said that he had received the news from a most reliable source that a man from the Hubble section of the county where the Rankins live, would be in Louisville tomorrow, Tuesday, when Pellman was taken from jail there by Sheriff McCarty to be brought back here for trial and immediately after the officer had left, this man would wire the information to others here who are in the plot. His message would read "Has left here to see about cattle" and this would indicate that the negro had left on the train for Stanford. The plan then, as outlined to Judge Walker, he says, was for the negro to be taken away from the officer between Junction City and Stanford, and strung up before he could be gotten here where he could be protected. Judge Walker said that the information was given him by a man high in church circles in Lancaster, and he felt that it was reliable.

Sheriff McCarty pointed out to Judge Walker the forbearance with which the Messrs. Rankin had handled the situation when they themselves arrested the negro and brought him to town and turned him over to the officers. He said that he believed everyone was satisfied that the law would take its course and justice be meted out to the criminal, and was convinced that there would be no effort on the part of anyone to take the law into his own hands and if there should be felt sure, the officers were amply able to cope with any situation which might arise. Sheriff McCarty said he felt keenly the reflection upon the officers of the county that the bringing of troops to protect the negro would be, and he wanted it fully understood that it was done over his emphatic protest. The letter which Judge Walker wrote to Sheriff McCarty apprising him of his decision in the matter, reads as follows:

Letter to Sheriff McCarty

Danville, Ky., Sept. 24th 1910
Dear Mr. McCarty:—
I have carefully considered the matter we discussed as to the Pellman case, and I think it my duty to request the Governor to furnish a guard. I do this knowing that you are opposed to it and think you can cope with the situation. On this account I do so reluctantly, but, nevertheless, I feel it my duty to do so. The law does not make any adequate provision for you to pay any guards and deputies and I feel that you should be furnished this assistance to preserve order and take care of the situation at the trial. I desire to assure of my absolute confidence in your integrity and courage, and I believe that you would use every effort to take care of the matter, but I feel that the action I have taken will absolutely guarantee peace and order at this trial, which I consider necessary above all things else.
I have written the Governor to communicate with you as to where the troops will report to you. You will kindly communicate with him over the phone and go yourself to Louisville to convey the prisoner to Stanford and make such arrangements as will fully protect the situation. The matter is in your hands, and I know that you will act in the matter so as to insure that no disorder or violence shall occur in any way.
If you desire to communicate with me further, you can do so over the phone at Lancaster Sunday, or here Monday or Tuesday. Assuring you again of my confidence in you as an officer and of my kindest personal regards, I am, Yours very truly,
LEWIS L. WALKER

SOMERSET TROOPS COMING

A special from Somerset says: Capt. Henry Waddie, of the Somerset Company of State guards, received orders this afternoon to take his company to Lebanon and guard Walter Pellman the negro who is charged with rape in Lincoln county. The militia with 60 men will leave here in the morning to go to Lebanon and take the negro to Stanford and guard him during his trial which will be held beginning Wednesday. Attorney Ben Smith of the city, an uncle of the child assaulted, will go to Stanford tomorrow to be present at the trial.

Pooling Committee

NAMED TO INVESTIGATE CONDI-TIONS AT LEXINGTON.

Lincoln county tobacco growers, at their mass meeting held Saturday, decided to send a committee to Lexington this week, which will meet with the Executive Board of the Burley Tobacco Society and investigate thoroughly the pooling plan proposed, and report back to a mass meeting of the growers here next Saturday.
Five prominent growers were selected as this committee, Messrs. Clarence Tate, Nevin Carter, Jas. Williams, P. T. Beck, and D. R. Adams. It is said to be probable that President Clarence Tate, of the Burley Tobacco Society, will himself attend the meeting here Saturday when the question of putting on a sound pool in Lincoln will be discussed.
The Paint Lick growers have appointed a similar committee composed of Woods Walker, W. G. Kemper, W. C. Winn and Walker Gwyn while a committee will go from Lancaster composed of Arch Walker, Arch Kavanaugh, J. A. Ross, Wm. Ross and Mr. Wells.
The sentiment for a pool is growing fast in this section, there is no doubt and some definite action is expected to be taken at these meetings next Saturday.

Live Saving Campaign

OF DR. CARPENTER PRAISED BY STATE MEDICAL JOURNAL.

The Kentucky Medical Journal in its current issue says:
Important Work of Dr. Carpenter
In the hope of inciting others to emulate it, the attention of the profession is called to the life-saving campaign being conducted in Lincoln county under the leadership of Dr. J. G. Carpenter, of Stanford. He is speaking to popular audiences, usually twice on Sunday and once or twice during the week, the meetings being held in churches and school houses, ministers, teachers and other leaders of public opinion, joining heartily in the discussions. The work is entirely educational, the burden of the lay sermons being to tell the people in a plain, practical way how and why typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria, cholera infantum and the other domestic pestilences which lay such a heavy toll upon health and life in Kentucky every year can be prevented with far less trouble and cost than is now required to care for the sick and bury the dead for these diseases. Dr. Carpenter is not a rich man, but is a busy successful surgeon, and his example is the more important in view of the proposal of the State Board of Health to divide the State into ten or more sanitary districts with a superintendent in each to join the county societies and health officials in just such a campaign as this in every county.

DIES SUDDENLY IN FAR-AWAY MEXICO

ED McCARTY BURIED A WEEK BE-FORE FAMILY HERE LEARN-ED OF HIS DEATH.

Sheriff W. L. McCarty on Saturday received the shocking and distressing news of the death of his son, Ed McCarty, which occurred at Tuxtepec, State of Oaxaca, Mexico, last Saturday morning week. His death was sudden and was immediately due to a congestive chill, so the letter which Sheriff McCarty received from one of the American friends of young McCarty said he had been feeling indisposed a few days previously but seemed better the day before his death. Early that morning however, he had gone to the room of one of his comrades and asked for some water. He was given it, and went back to his own room. Shortly after he was found in an expiring condition, and though a physician was summoned nothing could be done for him.
The letter informed Sheriff McCarty that the Governor of the town, or Mayor, as Americans would call him telegraphed the news of his death to Mr. McCarty here. No such telegram was ever received by the Sheriff, however, and he will have an investigation made. The body of young McCarty was buried in Mexico. His father would like very much to have the remains brought back to Kentucky for interment, but the letter informed him that it would probably be difficult to have this done, under the laws of Mexico.
Ed McCarty left Lincoln county about two and a half years ago, and for a time was in business in Mexico, South Dakota. Hearing of the superior advantages of Mexico, he went there and there he and another American in the real estate business and was doing well. He was 31 years of age, was never married and was of a whole-souled and genial disposition which made him friends wherever he went. He was the son of Sheriff McCarty by his first wife.
The sympathy of the entire community will go out to the grief stricken family, in this hour of deep bereavement.

BY CONFERENCE

Everyone will be glad to know that Rev. J. J. The reports of the preachers at the Conference showed marked advance in all the departments of work. Two conference evangelists were put in the field for the coming year. The Versailles church tendered the Conference a home for the free use of superannuated ministers, which was accepted. It will be built during the next year and deeded to the church in perpetuity. Fought on Street

PROMINENT BOYLE COUNTY MEN
MIX-UP IN DANVILLE

A neat little set-to between two prominent Danville citizens was suppressed by the Danville papers last week. The affair occurred on Wednesday when Charley Caldwell, a son of Jerry Caldwell approached attorney John W. Rawlings in front of the Horrs tailoring establishment and without so much as a by your leave, planted a hard right swing to the attorney's cheek bone. Mr. Rawlings was wearing nose glasses, and the blow caused them to break, an edge of the glasses cutting his cheek severely and causing much blood to flow.
The two men then grappled and were engaged in a sort of catch-as-catch-can affair when separated.
The attack on Mr. Rawlings by Mr. Caldwell is said to have been caused by certain reflections upon the latter's varacity indulged in by the attorney in a speech before a jury in the Boyle court a few days previous.
